STUDENT LIFE

Lunchtime provides an escape from classes

Students spent their possibly boring lunch hours this year by taking advantage of the many wonderful activities provided by the ASB cabinet. The ASB served Pepsi and ice cream, arranged for bands and disco machines, and sponsored tug-of-wars and other games.

Many students spent their time off campus also; going home or to one of the many nearby fast food restaurants.

(Clockwise from top): Scott Shanzle and April Jensen keep themselves occupied during a long lunch period. Chuck Morris and Ken Segel hum and strum to the sounds of their jam machines. Students are apprehensive about eating the cafeteria food. Steve Martin baffles himself over whether to munch his hamburger or gulp his milk. Brandy Cesmat tries for better communications between the police and the hip crowd. The locals gather around to show their beauty and their ultrabright smiles. A coneheaded cougar and Rob Lamme amuse themselves in their own original ways. Pastor Montecalvo operates the thirst-quenching machine, provided by the ASB.

Mime performs for students during lunch

Among the many lunchtime activities that occurred this year was the performance of the mime South West Hank, sponsored by South West Bank. He performed the traditional skits of his trade along with many innovated ideas of his own.

60's Day, Tourist Day are new for Spirit Week

The student body turned out in force for Spirit Week. Many original ideas were expressed that week during Hat Day, Tourist or Halloween Day, Hillbilly-Western Day, Sixties Day and Orange and Black Day.

Another highlight of the week was the San Pasqual game pep rally which featured the king and queen of San Pasqual: Two people dressed up in monkey suits who helped to greet the royalty.

Homecoming gives blast of excitement

Many students thought this year's Homecoming celebration was the best they had ever seen. With hundreds of balloons, fireworks and a National Guard tank, few people would be able to argue. The Associated Student Body put out a great deal of time, money and effort for the week-long celebration and was responsible for the half-time action at the football games.

Students find various ways of getting around

Escondido High School in the past has seen many forms of transportation. This year is no different. Bicycles, buses, skate boards, mopeds and, of course, cars are the ways the majority of students get around.

Students find many ways to use time

Although schoolwork always seemed to be a burden, students found time to kickback and relax. They even found time to do such things as making signs for basketball games. Other events included the Tim Shell Dating Game where Shell chose Vicki Watson for his date. Other contestants were Shelly Randall and Kris Visser.

Advanced dance class performs for audience

Escondido High School's sixth annual dance concert, held in January, was a big success. This was its first year being held in the gym, and a lot of work had to be done in the preparation of the stage.

With 40 dancers, as opposed to the usual average of 25, there was a large variety of dances. This variety included such dances as a chorus line, the Charleston, disco, jazz and tap dancing.

Nancy Wickens executes a perfect leap.

"Chorus Line" was one of the dances in which all members of the advanced dance class participated.

Robin Haynal, Hilary Press and Vickie Watson perform in "Saturday Night Fever."

Dancers apply their stage make up.

Pam Shepherd and Susan Stucki show their "Elegance" during the dance concert.

"The Boy Friend," performed by all dancers, added a touch of comedy to the concert.

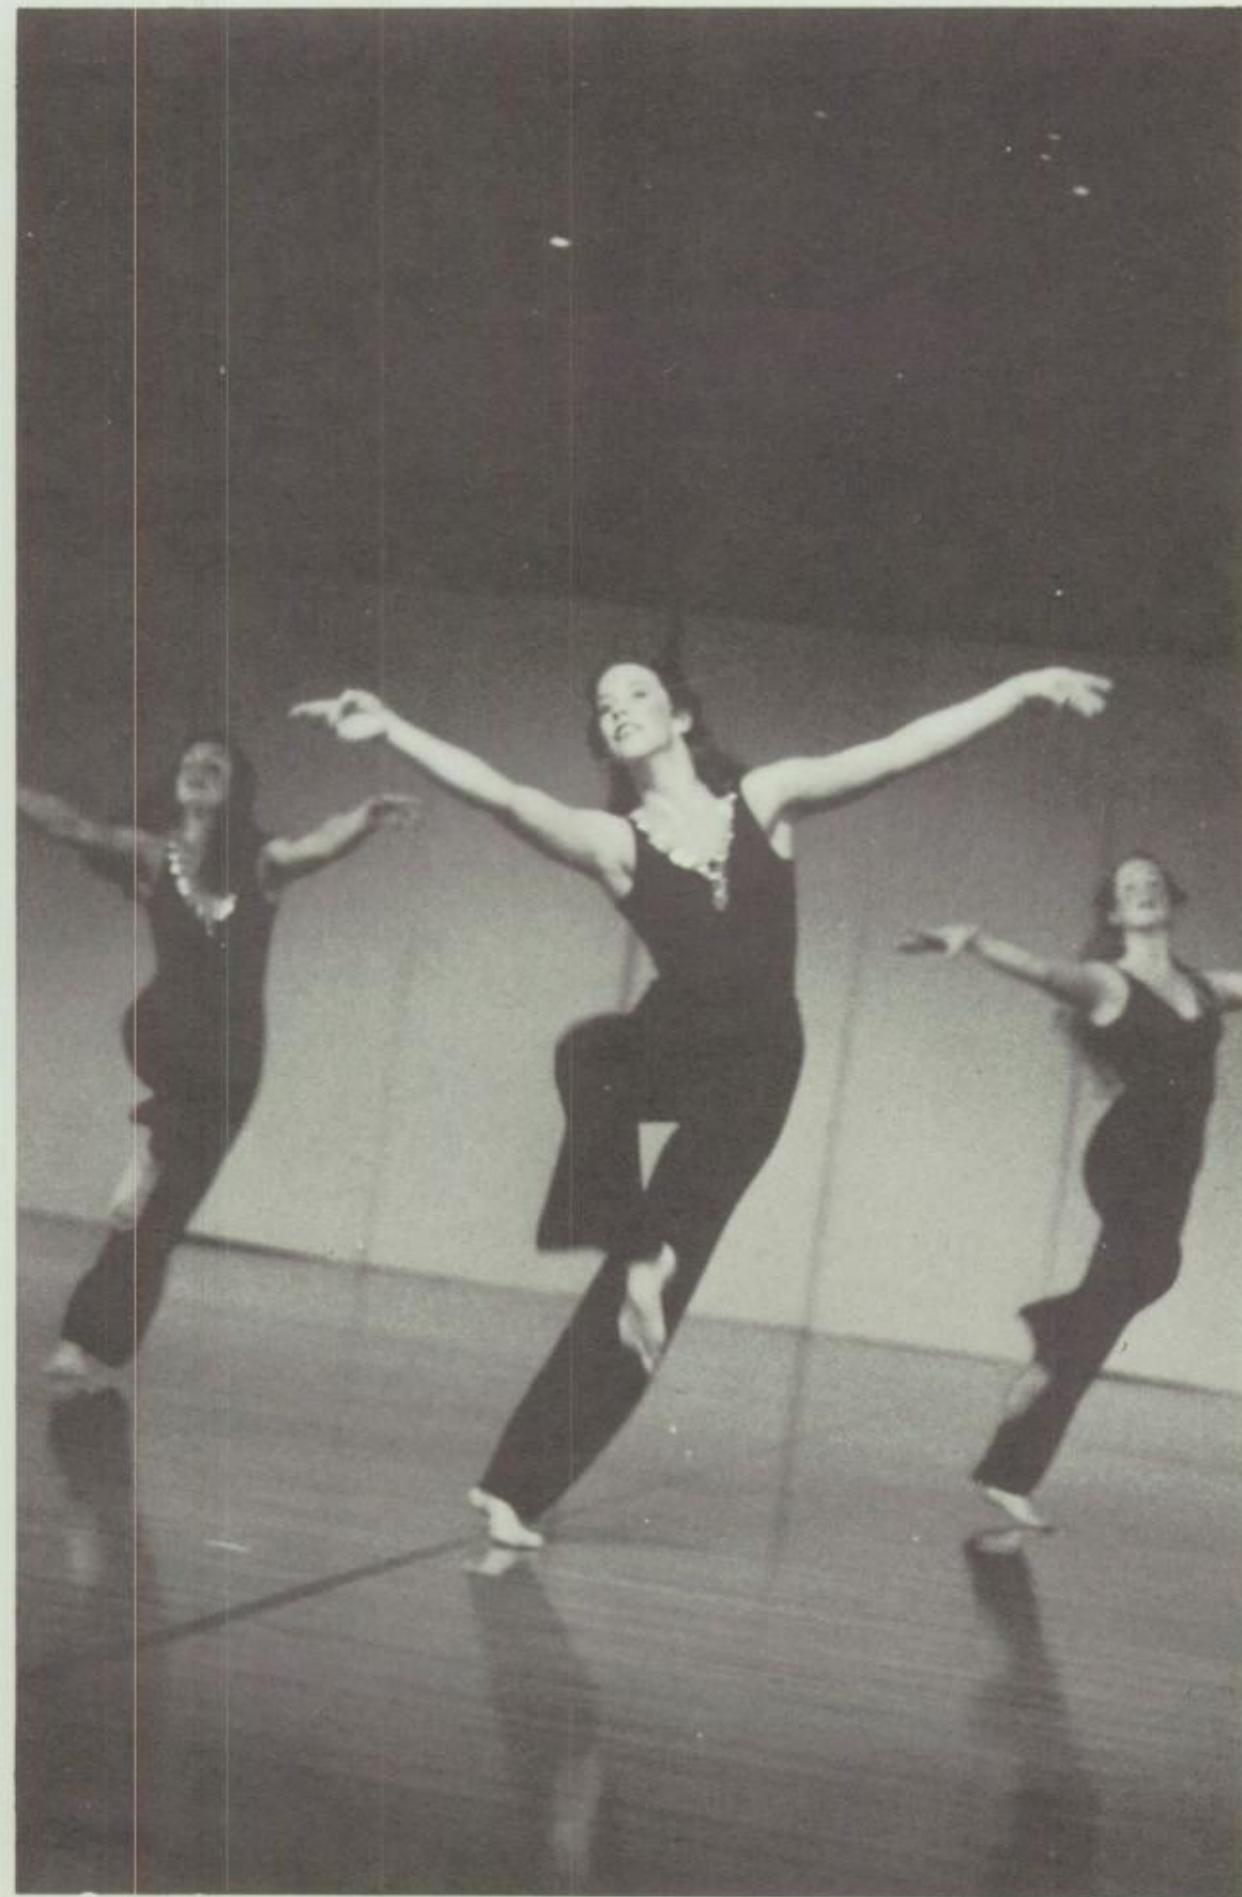

Many thanks are given to Jane Rattman, the coordinator of the production.

Ravioli feed provides exciting contest action

The ravioli feed was a big lunchtime event in February. It was a contest in which class teams, consisting of a boy and girl, competed to see which class team could eat the most ravioli. During the final moments a few of the contestants began stuffing it in their mouths with their hands in hopes of winning.

The Junior team, of Dave Eckland and Sharon Igo, took first place, winning tee-shirts proclaiming them ravioli King and Queen. The senior team took second place, winning a can of ravioli. (Sorry, seniors, we couldn't count the ravioli in Ron Colburn's mouth).

Well another year! I know I'll see ya over the summer so have a good one. Believe it or not, you're my favorite cousin. Some of my other cousins just don't know how to say "hi." You remembered (I guess). So you showed your true colors, huh? Oh well see ya soon, Robert E.

(Clockwise). Warren Hugins fills bowls of ravioli in anticipation of the Ravioli Feed.

Cindy McCulloch gets another bowl of ravioli ready for the already sickened Tammy Martin.

Paul Vannostaeyen starts off an obvious love affair.

Dave Ecklund, winner of the Ravioli Feed, enjoys first prizes.

Rob Lamme gets even with brother John by staging a "I ate John" contest before the Ravioli Feed. Martin Escalante won the contest over highly favored Tammy Martin.

Pat Nash watches intently as Shelly Randall examines the contents of her purse.

Mike Webb drops in for a visit on the green top.

AFS gets back in action

The American Field Service of Escondido High got back into action after two years of inactivity. They held fund raisers such as bake sales and candy sales in order to sponsor a foreign student at school next year.

Club members attended a foreign exchange weekend in which foreign students attending school throughout Southern California got together in Escondido to get acquainted and basically have a good time.

Pat Nash adds new zip to campus activities

Who was ever to know that on the final day of school elections Pat Nash would win as a write-in candidate? Nash and the rest of the ASB have done many new things this year such as sponsoring tail-gate parties, serving ice cream during lunch, and celebrating Pat Ross' birthday by serving a large cake to the students during lunch. This year's ASB proved that school doesn't have to be a bore.

ASB cabinet members don't seem to mind risking a parking ticket to get their faces on film. Up from are Pastor Montcalvo, Ron Walton, Bob Segel, Tim Shell, John Lamme, Doug Paulson and Don Lee. Faculty and students out-charge Chargers

The baseball game between the EHS faculty-student team and the Charger football team was somewhat of a sight. The size of many of these football players made Robby Gilster look small in comparison. It was a well matched game with a score of 74-75, a Cougar victory.

Backgammon becomes big game on campus

Backgammon was a new source of entertainment on campus this year. Lunch and class time games were common sights. Backgammon was finally accepted as a B.G.O.C. (big game on campus). This year marked the first annual Backgammon contest in which many students competed.

The Seniors Class successfully held the annual pizza sale. They sold 888 pizzas, which is almost double the amount that has been sold in previous years. With their profit of $1,600, they took a trip to Knotts' Berry Farm in March.

Cheerleader tryouts were also held in March. Contenders had to perform in front of a student body assembly.

Cougar Fall Summary

This was a year of excitement during fall sports. The volleyball team captured the hearts of many but failed to put a digit in the win column. Water polo was much improved over last year and should get better in the years to come. Cross country was again a year of rebuilding but don't give in, tracksters, your day will come. Tennis was another improving sport, and with this year's squad came many an upset. And finally, Cougar football. This year's team finished the season as league champions (undefeated) and were one game away from the stadium when beat in the quarter finals. It was by far the most exciting of the fall sports. But fall sports wouldn't be the same without all the individuals needed to participate.

Polo outcome improves

Water, stamina and strength, the three musts for a good water polo team.

This year's team showed signs of the latter two throughout the year.

Coaches Jim Stone and Gary Sadnick worked hard to improve this year's outcome. Led by captain Mark Doering and MVP Paul Pallero, the Cougars were 5-13 on the year. Doering was a very strong defensive standout for the Cougars, and Pallero was the heart and soul of this team.

Over all, this year's water polo players seemed to grow confident in one another, and it began to show in the latter part of the season.

Mark Steinbeck, team member, said it best when he confidently said, "Improvement, an easy thing to want, a tough thing to achieve. We wanted both, and got it."

Surprise and upsets: key to girls' tennis

This year's Cougar girls' tennis team finished up at four wins and eight losses. Surprise and upset were among the words used when the Cougars beat both Poway and San Pasqual. It was the first time ever Poway had been defeated by a Cougar tennis team.

Sue Alvarez was voted MVP in doubles and also shared the co-captain award with Mary Adler. Kim Kutcher received most improved while Dawn Satterfield was voted MVP in singles.

Ellen Offerman was given the 110 per cent effort award this year and it showed the entire team spirit. This year's J.V. tennis team finished with a record of four wins and eight losses

Cross country looks ahead with new coach

Co-captains Mark Sarno and Eric Shirley led the cross country team through a very rough season. They first had to find a coach and then were disqualified from a few meets because of small team membership.

Although they were a small team, they placed fourth at Mt. Sac invitational which had 25 other teams competing. Mt. Sac is California's biggest cross country meet.

Cougars have winning year with new coach

Cougar football returned to its dominating self this year. The Cougars were 11-2 on the year, and undefeated Avocado League Champions. First-year coach Dennis Snyder led the Cougars in the fine tradition of Escondido High School.

On the field the team was led by All-CIF player of the year David Graves. His supporting cast included Ron Colburn, Rob Gilster, both second team all CIF picks, and All-Leaguers Jack Johnson and Marvin Heintshel. The Cougar Defense, known as the unknown defense, was a surprise this year, helping the team to a winning season.

They were led by David Vigil, Kurt Rolland and Ron Bradford.

Snyder, Graves lead Cougars to victory

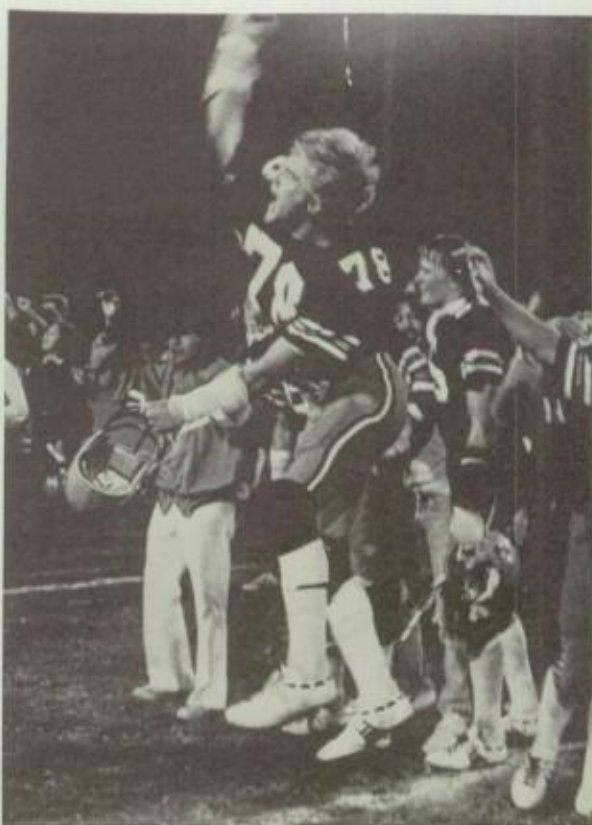

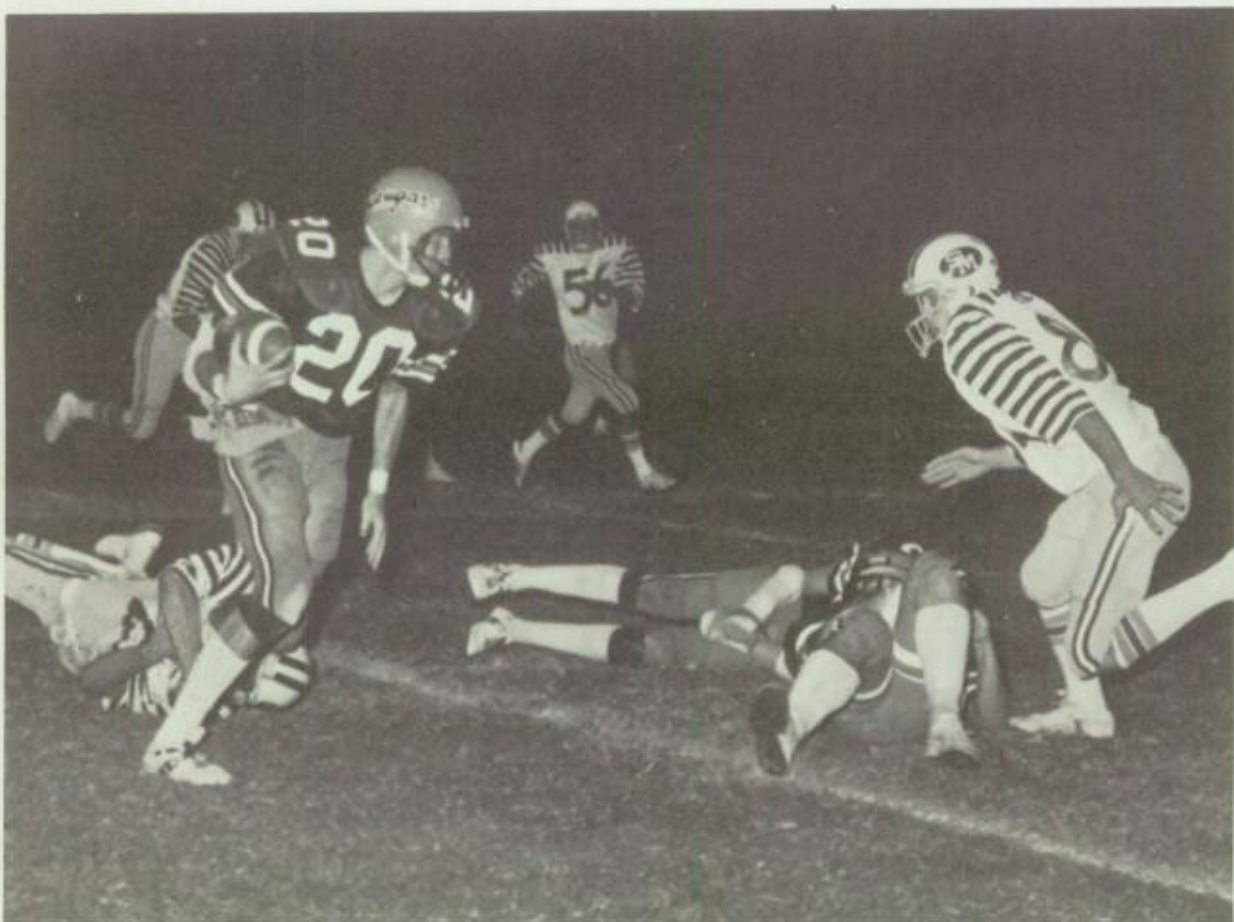

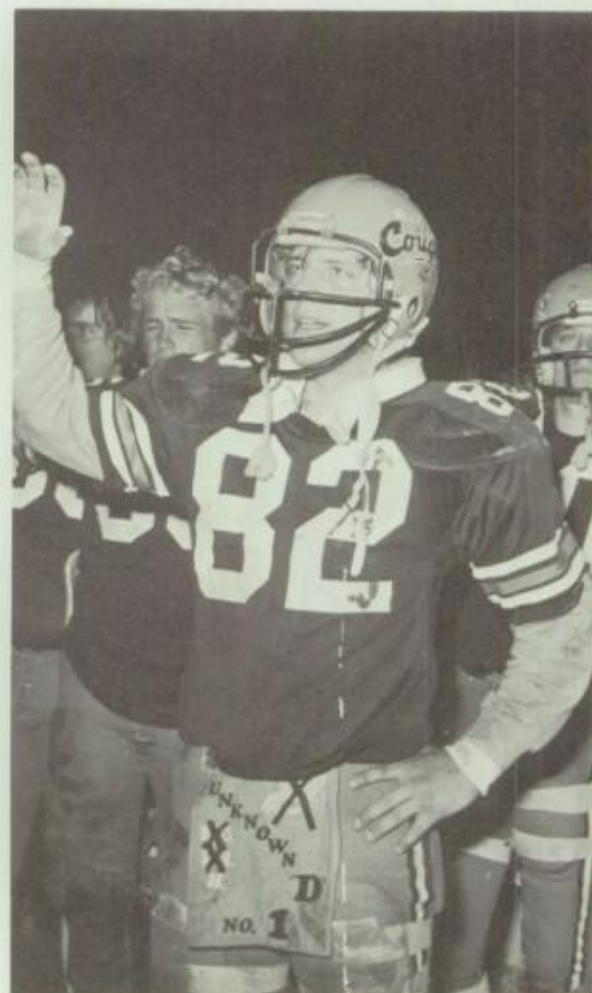

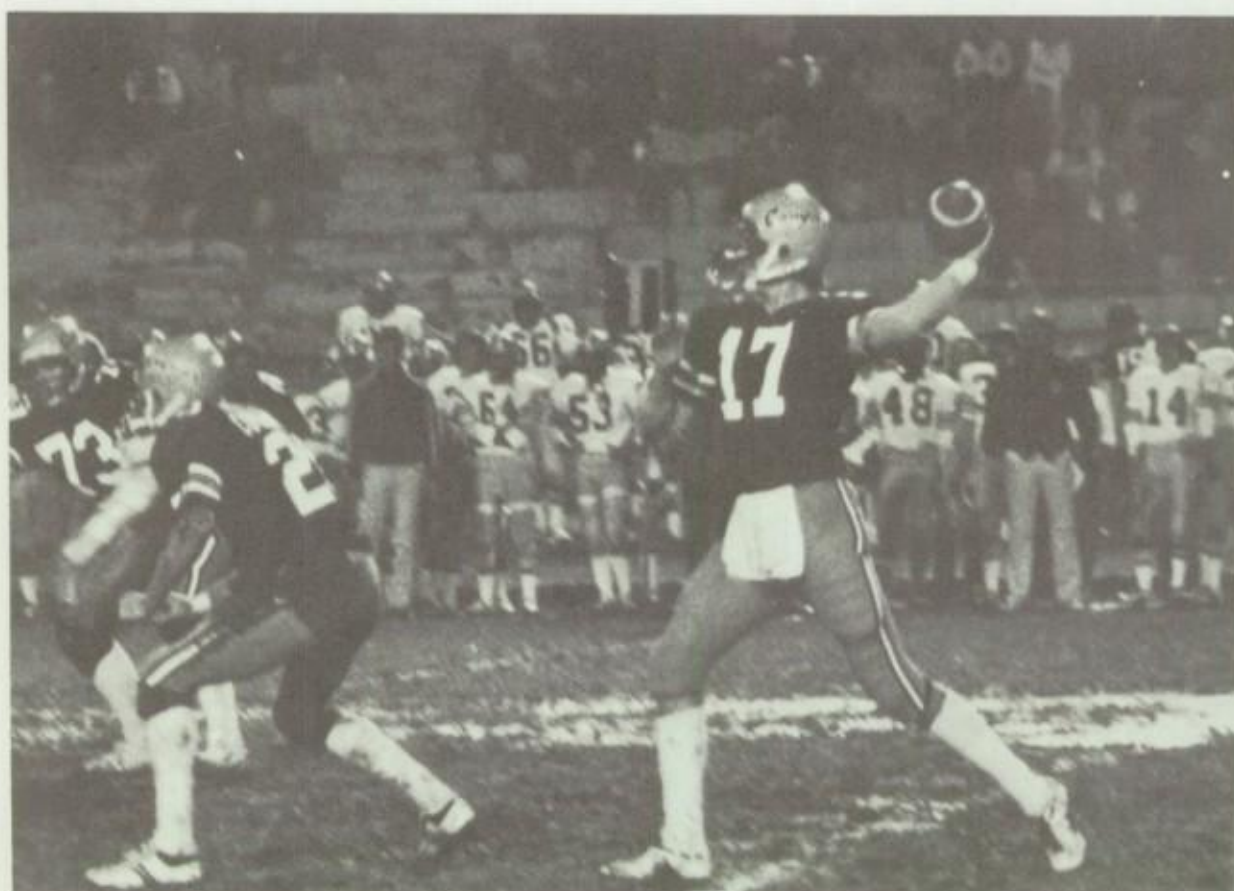

The Cougar varsity football team regained its traditional winning ways when first-year coach Dennis Snyder led the Cougars to a 10-2 record.

The Cougars were one game away from San Diego Stadium, when they lost to Helix, 18-16. The Cougars had set goals for themselves early in the year and put in the time and effort to achieve their goals. The goal was to be Avocado League champions. The Cougars did better than that—they not only won the crown but ended with a 6-0 record in league play.

"The team was so close knit and definitely depended on one another to do a job," said Snyder. He also added that there were so many outstanding efforts he couldn't name them all.

Even though the frosh football team had a disappointing record, they showed great promise for the coming years, according to head coach Don Portis.

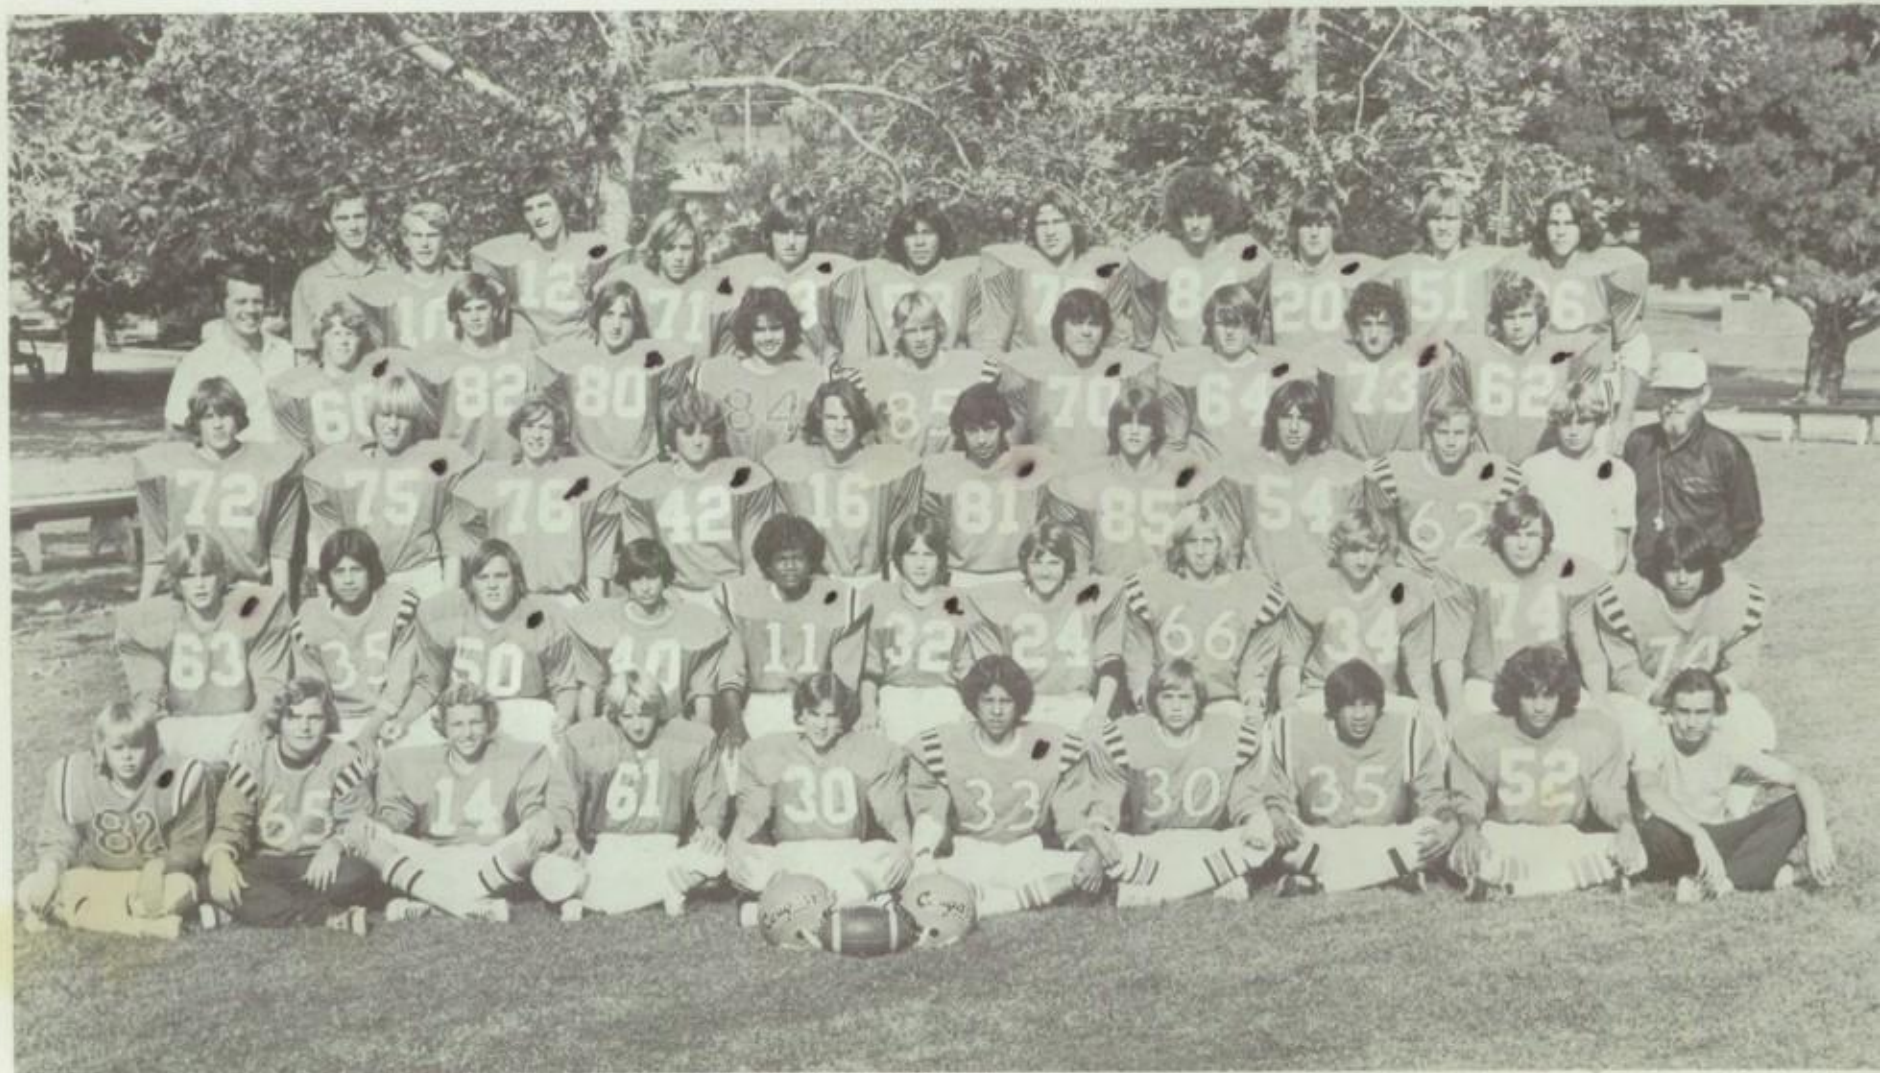

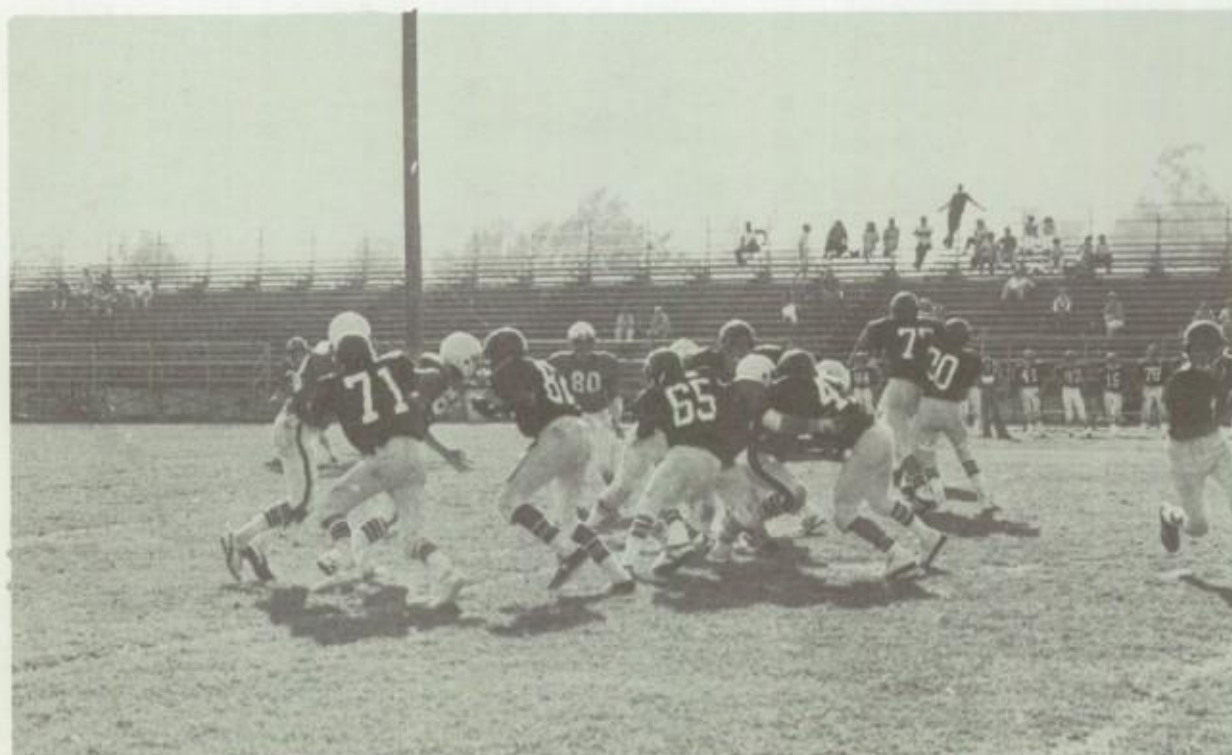

Led by Mike Heintschel and Richie Cherkin the Cougars started slow but finished the season by winning the last two games.

Others Coach Portis said to watch for in the coming years were David Madden, running back; Bob Owens, middle linebacker; and team spark plug Eric Delhagen who returned a kickoff for touchdowns during the year.

Awards for the season were Richie Cherkin, MVP. Mike Heinschel, captain; and Dennis mullins, most improved.

Devlin, Torres lead inexperienced wrestlers

The Cougar wrestling team had a young and inexperienced group. Pre-season was highlighted by a sixth place taken by Ernie Devlin at a very competitive 32-team tournament at El Cajon as well as two third places taken by Devlin and Mike Torres at the annual Jim Londos tournament.

League competition was exciting with impressive showings by sophomores Mike Zizzi, Raul Lizalde, Candido Villalobos, Richard Cherkin and Greg Vundenburg.

Fleming leads field hockey

The Cougar field hockey team coached by Chesley Ross ended its season tied for fourth place. Competing against some of the strongest teams in the county, they compiled a league record of 1-7 with several games going into overtime.

Led by co-captains Kim Kutcher and Sue Alvarez, the Cougars finished in the top eight of the Serra tournament losing in flick-offs to Serra High School in the quarter finals. Ann Fleming was selected to the tournament all-star team.

Coach Ross feels that although the team will be losing several strong players, including two of EHS's best hockey players of all time—Ann Fleming and Sue Alvarez—next year's team will be stronger.

Softball learns togetherness

The Cougar softball team started slow, but came back strong at the end. Coach Marilyn Shriver said that the main difference from the start and the end of the season was togetherness.

"This was an extremely close bunch of gals," commented Shriver. "Overall, they weren't the best skilled I've coached, but as far as having fun, and coaching enjoyment, these girls are the top of the list."

Shriver also added that the addition of Robin Haynal definitely helped the team. "I wish I had her for one more year—I wish I had them all for another year."

Basketball never gets in gear

With varsity football participating in the CIF playoffs, the varsity basketball team started off slow and never really got into action, according to Cougar basketball coach Mike Williams.

Since six of the ten varsity basketball players were involved in the CIF playoffs Williams had to rely on reserve players and some players of the junior varsity team. When regular team members did return, the team showed some promise but had a tough schedule and never showed much in the win column.

Dean Hauser and Terry Baker show up as the outstanding players this year with Ron Rackley showing much promise for next year.

Awards given for varsity basketball were: Most Valuable—Dean Hauser. Captain—Marv Heintschel. Most improved—Jim Price.

JV excites student body

Since the varsity basketball team was having a tough year, the student body turned to the JV team. The team didn't let them down, turning in a 8-4 season and tying for second place.

Geoff Poole and Matt Heinschel were outstanding for the JV which earned them the Co-MVP award. Other awards went to David Stone, captain, and Brad Luskey, most improved.

Bill Kutzner, JV basketball coach, was pleased with the job that all the players did. Reserves Ron Bradford and David Ruscetta also turned in good jobs. Kutzner also hoped that these players could help the varsity team in 1980.

Spring summary

Coach Jane Rattman on gymnastics:

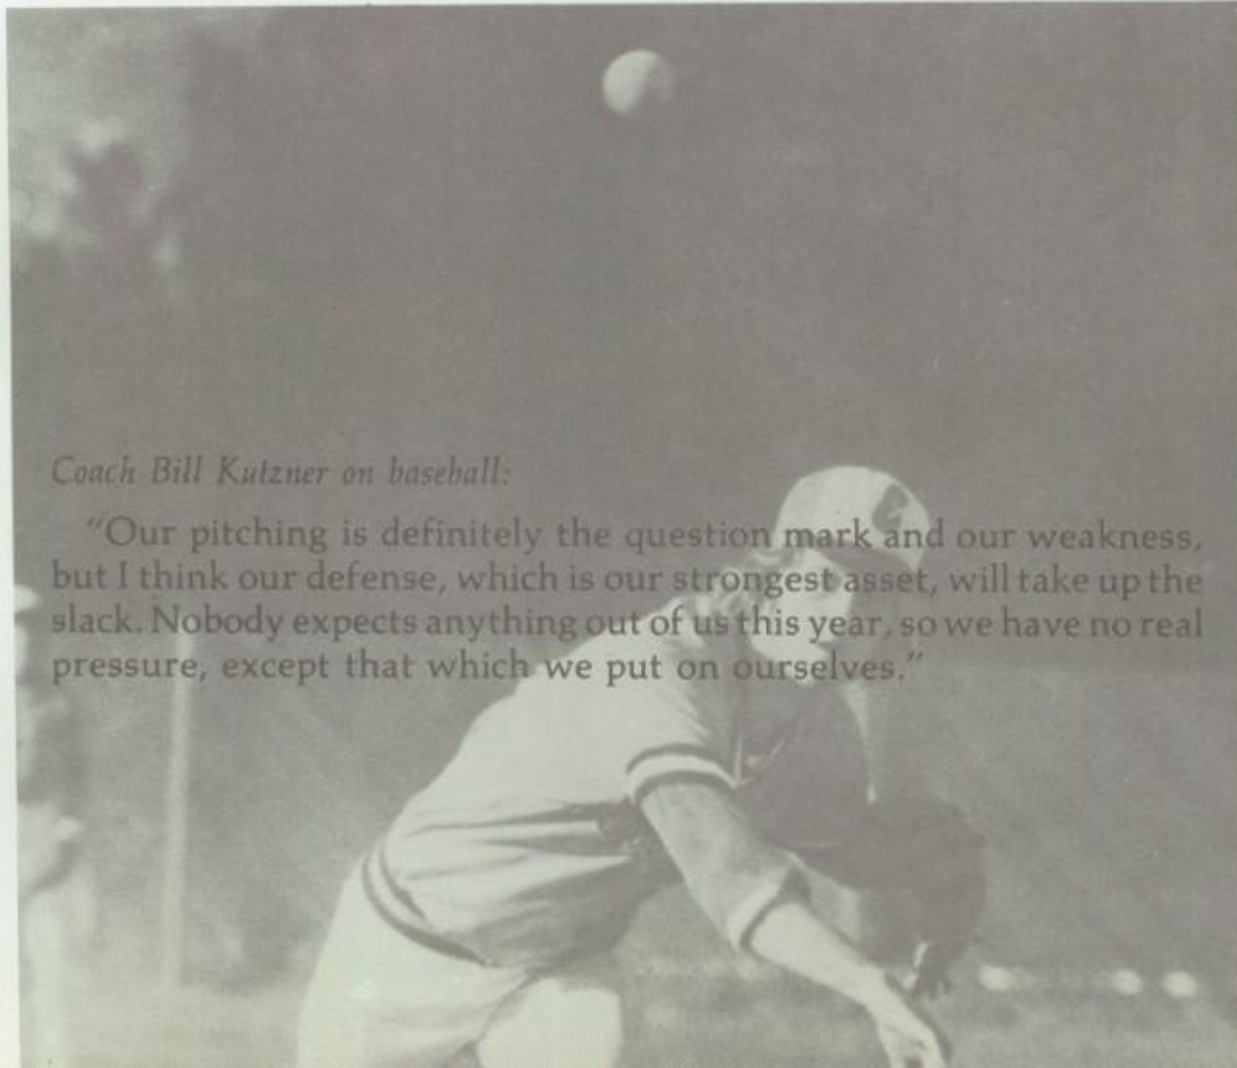

"We should have another strong year, especially with the people returning. I would say we'll be one or two, with Poway the only question mark."

Coach Len Johnson on golf:

"Well, we can't go much farther down the line than last year, only up, which is what I expect to do."

"We're very young and inexperienced but I really got a great bunch of kids to start building with."

Coach Bill Kutzner on baseball:

"Our pitching is definitely the question mark and our weakness, but I think our defense, which is our strongest asset, will take up the slack. Nobody expects anything out of us this year, so we have no real pressure, except that which we put on ourselves."

Coach Paul Kinder on track:

"We have a strong team and should surprise some people in C. I. F. As for the League, we should win the crown."

Coach Jim Stone on swimming:

"Since we have a couple of outstanding seniors, we should have a shot at the title."

Hoopsters show promise

Coming off of a less-than-spectacular season last year, the girls' basketball team tried to avenge for it this year.

Led by Charlene Igo and Lori Brandt, the Cougars went out to win the Avocado East crown.

The girls showed promise, but never really got off to a good start losing their first non-league game to Oceanside, but the Cougarettes did work hard to try to make a comeback.

Hondo leads tennis

Escondido High School tennis showed great potential for the next couple of years.

Led by Todd Hondo and Jamie Lievers, the tennis from EHS looked like it would be exciting this season and in the future.

The Cougar netters showed great potential for this year with impressive wins over Oceanside and San Marcos.

The tennis team is basically building for the future with Coach Dick Lievers, since the team consisted of mostly juniors and sophomores.

Baseball key: pitching

The rookie year of Coach Bill Kutzner is a big question mark. Pitching was supposed to be the weakness and defense the strength. But in the early year, the Cougar trademark was one or two innings of errors by the defense causing may unearned runs from the surprisingly good pitching performances.

Mike Cordry, David Stone, Dean Hauser, Mike Alegre and anyone else who could throw a baseball were told to or asked to pitch. All so far had done a good job.

Seniors Scott Schanzle, Dean

Hauser and Frank Destephano were very strong in both defense and offensive categories. Juniors David Stone, Steve Afiner, Geoff Poole and Darrel Edwards marked a surprisingly good junior class which should lead to a successful 1979-80 baseball year.

Watson leads gymnast

Coach Jane Rattman's gymnasts should place high in league this year.

The Cougar gymnasts are led by all around Vicki Watson, also senior Robin Haynal and junior Marci Baker.

The Cougars, lead by these gymnasts and others, should return to their excellent form of previous years.

Coach Rattman said after an early league loss to Poway, "Poway will win league and probably CIF, but I'm happy with the performance we got from the girls."

Nash, Cooper lead track

The Cougar tracksters were favored to finish high in the league standing this year.

They were led by Pat Nash who won two CIF championships his junior year. John Cooper was the man to watch in the sprints with Bill Walden a close second. Ron Bradford should do well in league this year and should toss the shot close to 52 feet. Tim Shell is the discus favorite and Fred Machin leads the pole vaulters. Mike Heintschel should do well in the high jump as a freshman. Coach Paul Kinder expects a good year from everybody and if he gets it expects a league title for the Cougars.

 Janice Alvarado Class of 81

As students became more aware of their career possibilities, enrollment in the department went up. Typing, intro-business, book-keeping and shorthand were among the most popular classes offered. Ralph Vasquez admitted that his students' enthusiasm kept them interested in their studies and gave the whole department a more positive attitude.

Clockwise from left: 1. The varied amount of work done in business is illustrated in the wonderful world of file searching. 2. A Typing I student prepares her nimble fingers for 60-80 words a minute. 3. Toni Richardson cranks out her typing assignment with blazing speed.

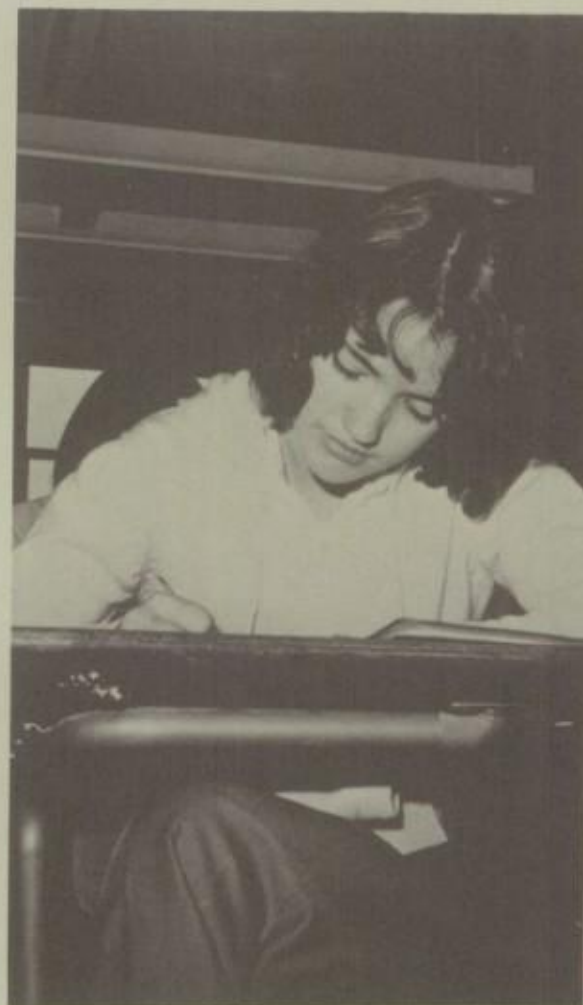

English produces many future literary geniuses

The accent was on literature, grammar and vocabulary in the English Department. The reading of novels and literature was especially stressed in the junior and senior years while vocabulary and grammar were the main topics of the lower classes.

Foreign language dept. draws more interest

More students than ever started taking advantage of the Foreign Language Department. Spanish was especially popular since a lot of the state's culture is based on Mexico's past, present and future.

(Clockwise from top): Gil Kyte shows his Spanish his flair for the language.

Al Figueroa lends a helping hand to Dave Martin.

New science teachers highlight science year

The Science Department went through many changes for the year. One major change was the promotion of Dale Cornelius to department chairman, filling the position left vacant by William Townsend who took a year's leave of absence. Replacing Townsend and Bernie Danylchuk, who resigned at the end of last year, were Dwight Shirley and Chesley Ross.

Clockwise from upper left: 1. Disecting a cat does not seem to be one of Mickey Strakon's favorite pasttimes, and Kathy Nord looks content just hold on to a leg. 2. Danny Wettstien proposes toast. 3. Marian Vanderstelt: EHS's next Madame Curie. 4. Jeff Boyer and his prom dat share a touching moment.

Students enjoy many different math levels

General math explored the basics of arithmetic and gave students encouragement to continue on in the Math Department.

Algebra, geometry and calculus students researched various aspects of math at different levels.

Advanced Senior Math students gave 12th graders a chance to work at their own pace and further their knowledge of math.

Dick Nation strikes his most scholarly pose.

Charles Hugins enlightens his math students to the wonderful world of arithmetic.

Dave Turner excitedly helps Tommy Diaz with his math problems.

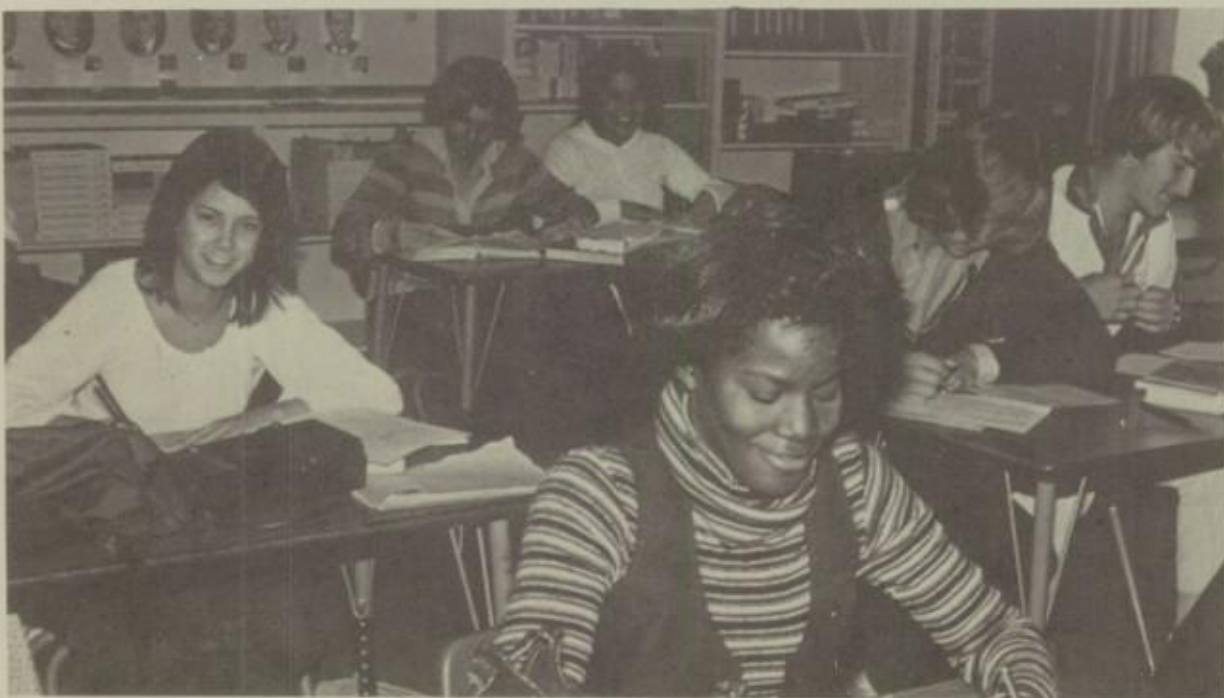

Civics takes its toll on suffering class of '79

Norm Barnhard brought his teaching abilities to the civics department this year, and Bob McKinley, he was just himself, which turned a boring civics class into a lonely hearts club.

The history department welcomed Linda Suokko to the teaching staff this year after the sudden retirement of John Kashuba, who left early in the fall.

Clockwise from upper left: 1. Steve Boyle tries to persuade Vicki Watson that he knows what he's talking about. 2. A rare moment indeed-Bob McKinley with a book?? 3. Misty Markham and Carla Martin eagerly take another exciting history test.

Psychology focuses on trust, feelings, emotions

Trust, emotions and human nature were only a small part of what students learned in psychology.

Various exercises were used to help students understand about psychology. Blindfolded students were led around campus by sighted students as Christy Williams tried to impress upon her students the importance of trust.

Clockwise from top. Shoshana Zatz shows Rebecca Valdivia there's nothing to be afraid of (ha ha).

David Martin shares his pie with Christie Williams.

If David Ayala can't trust Lynn Rusnak—whom can he trust?

Prop. 13 causes close watch on basic supplies.

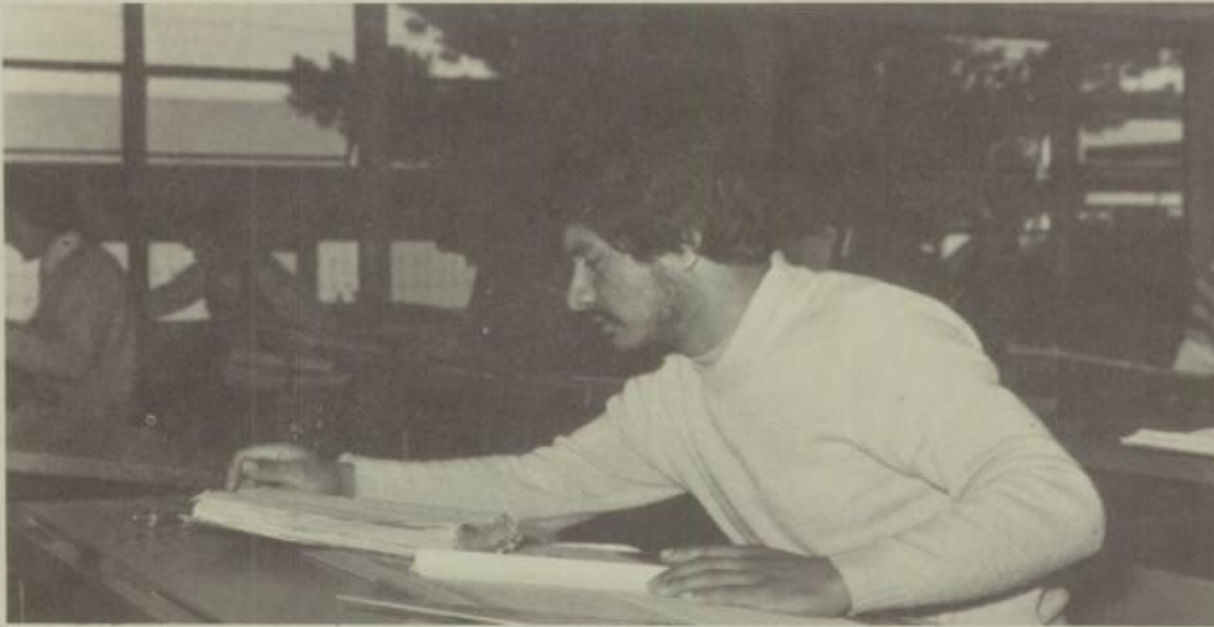

There were a few changes made in the Industrial Education Department because of Proposition 13. General supplies for metal shop were cut in half and general shop was eliminated completely from the curriculum. Although they were not worried about shortages, Jesse Sanchez admitted that they were watching their basic supplies more closely.

Electronics, for instance, had been working from stored-up supplies that have been accumulated over the years.

In metal shop, the staff had to postpone the changeover to the metric system which was scheduled for the 1979-80 school year.

Proposition 13 gives the photo department scare.

Due to the passing of Proposition 13 the photography department was in danger of being cut out of the district's budget and Gary Sadnick, instructor, was pleased to have a photo department at all. He was not able to purchase all the new equipment needed for the department so the students got by with the old equipment. Photo students went on several field trips to photograph the sights in and around San Diego County. Two of these trips were to

Journalists print news, communicate to students

Journalism students strove to communicate with the student body through their newspaper "The Cougar". One of the highlights of the year was attending the Spring Journalism Convention at the San Jose Hyatt Hotel in April.

Beginning journalism students put out a cub edition in preparation for being on next year's Cougar staff.

Clockwise from upper left: 1. Roger Shy draws one more in a series of excruciatingly funny editorial cartoons for the "Cougar". 2. Jack Paulson, editor-in-chief of the "Gong", confers with Taylor Publishing representative Dick Kerr about an upcoming deadline. 3. Steve Powell looks contentedly at the "Cougar" layout. 4. The "Cougar" staff stack their newspaper in a state of ecstasy.

Drama tries out new plays on student body

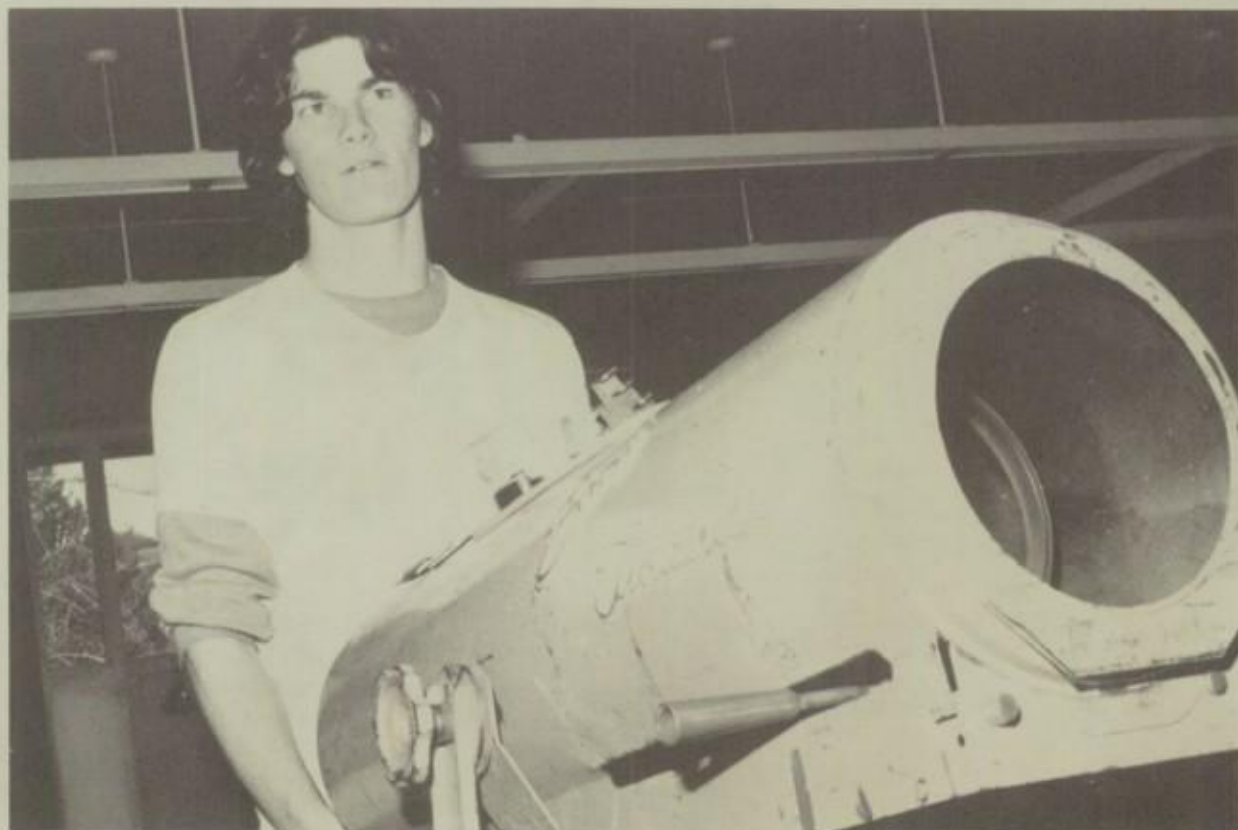

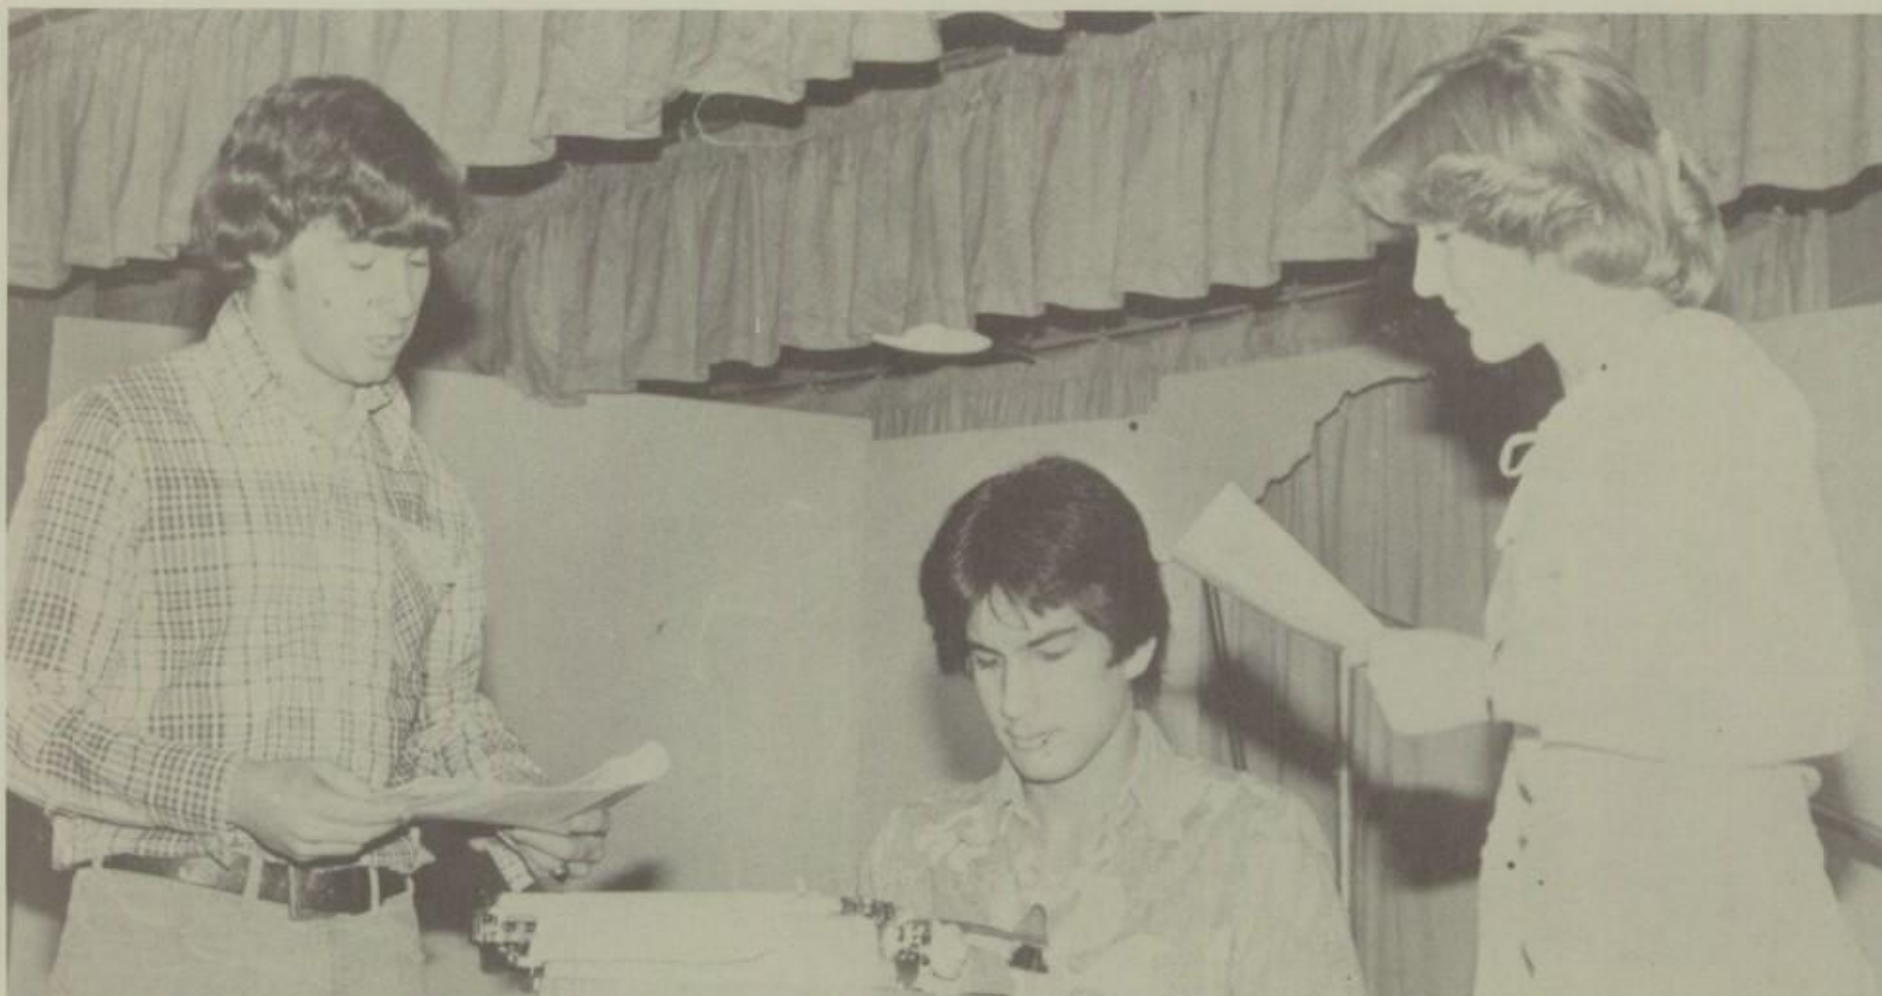

Christmas parades and caroling, along with trips to Europe and Reno seemed proof of an active Music Department this year. The band won first place in the Chaffee Field Marching Competition and a second in Escondido's Tournament of Bands. Concert Choir had many performances and went to San Francisco, while the Noteables presented musical programs at the Vineyard and appeared on the television program Sun Up.

Clockwise from top. Warren Hugins, Randy Vasquez and April Jensen stand in suspended animation waiting for Cecil B. to walk through the door.

Chuck Morris walks on the stage with extra chairs hoping for his big break.

Tonny Eades shoots a lady out of a cannon.

Music Department is more active than ever

Under the direction of Al Krasic and some upper class student directors, drama students studied plays such as "The Crucible," "Of Mice and Men," and ran through a number of television commercials.

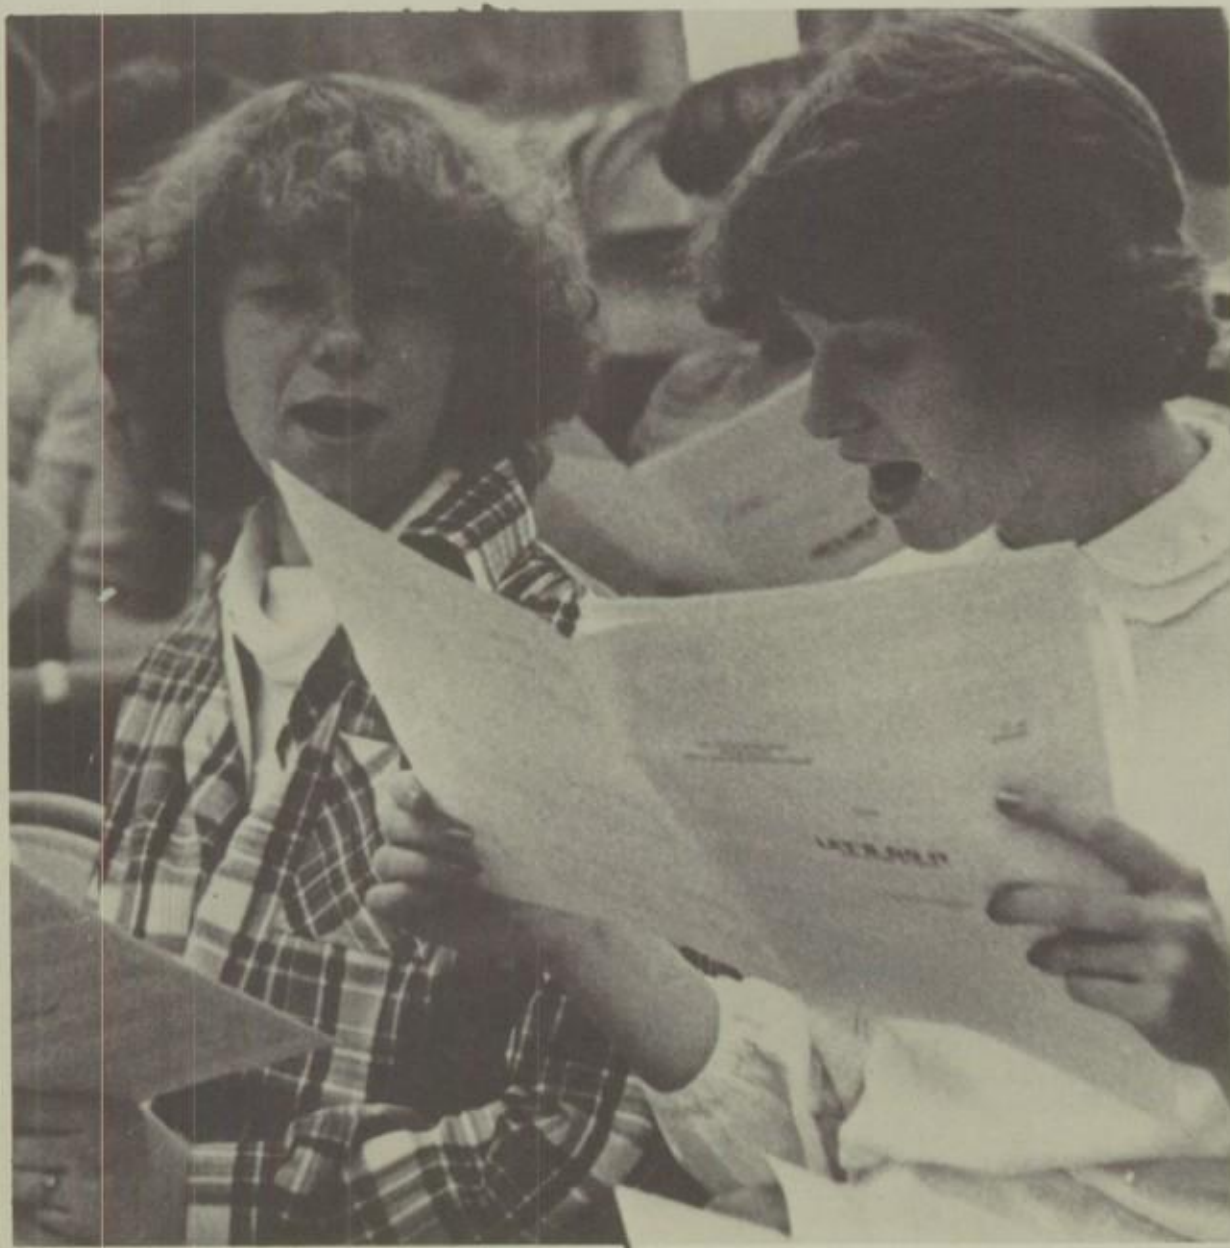

Comedy techniques were also stressed and were put to use in their first production, "Harvey."

Robbie Smith gets into it at a halftime show.

Health & Safety, Drivers' Ed required

One of the required classes for sophomores is Drivers Education. In the class students learned defensive driving, basic rules and driving skills and were able to obtain their learners permit.

Another area of the class was a unit called Career Awareness. Proficiency tests were taken by students to show them their strong skills which could be put to use in future careers. They also pointed out new career objectives that many students had not considered before.

Another required class for tenth graders was health and safety. Among the topics covered were communicable diseases, drug addiction and the functions of the

Many aspects of library attract more students

With the wide variety of books, microfilm readers and the addition of a new individualized projector room, the library attracted a large crowd of students before and after school and during lunch. Many students used the library for doing book reports or studying for tests and some*got extra credits by becoming teacher aides and helping out the librarians.

Career Center holds unknown opportunities

The Career Center was one of the many places at EHS that not a lot of people knew about. There were many opportunities for future careers, part-time and fulltime jobs and even baby-sitting jobs.

Once a year the Career Center sponsors a Career Opportunity Day. Seniors interested in getting a job after graduation were able to interview with business people. Many jobs were filled on that day.

Busy sophomores

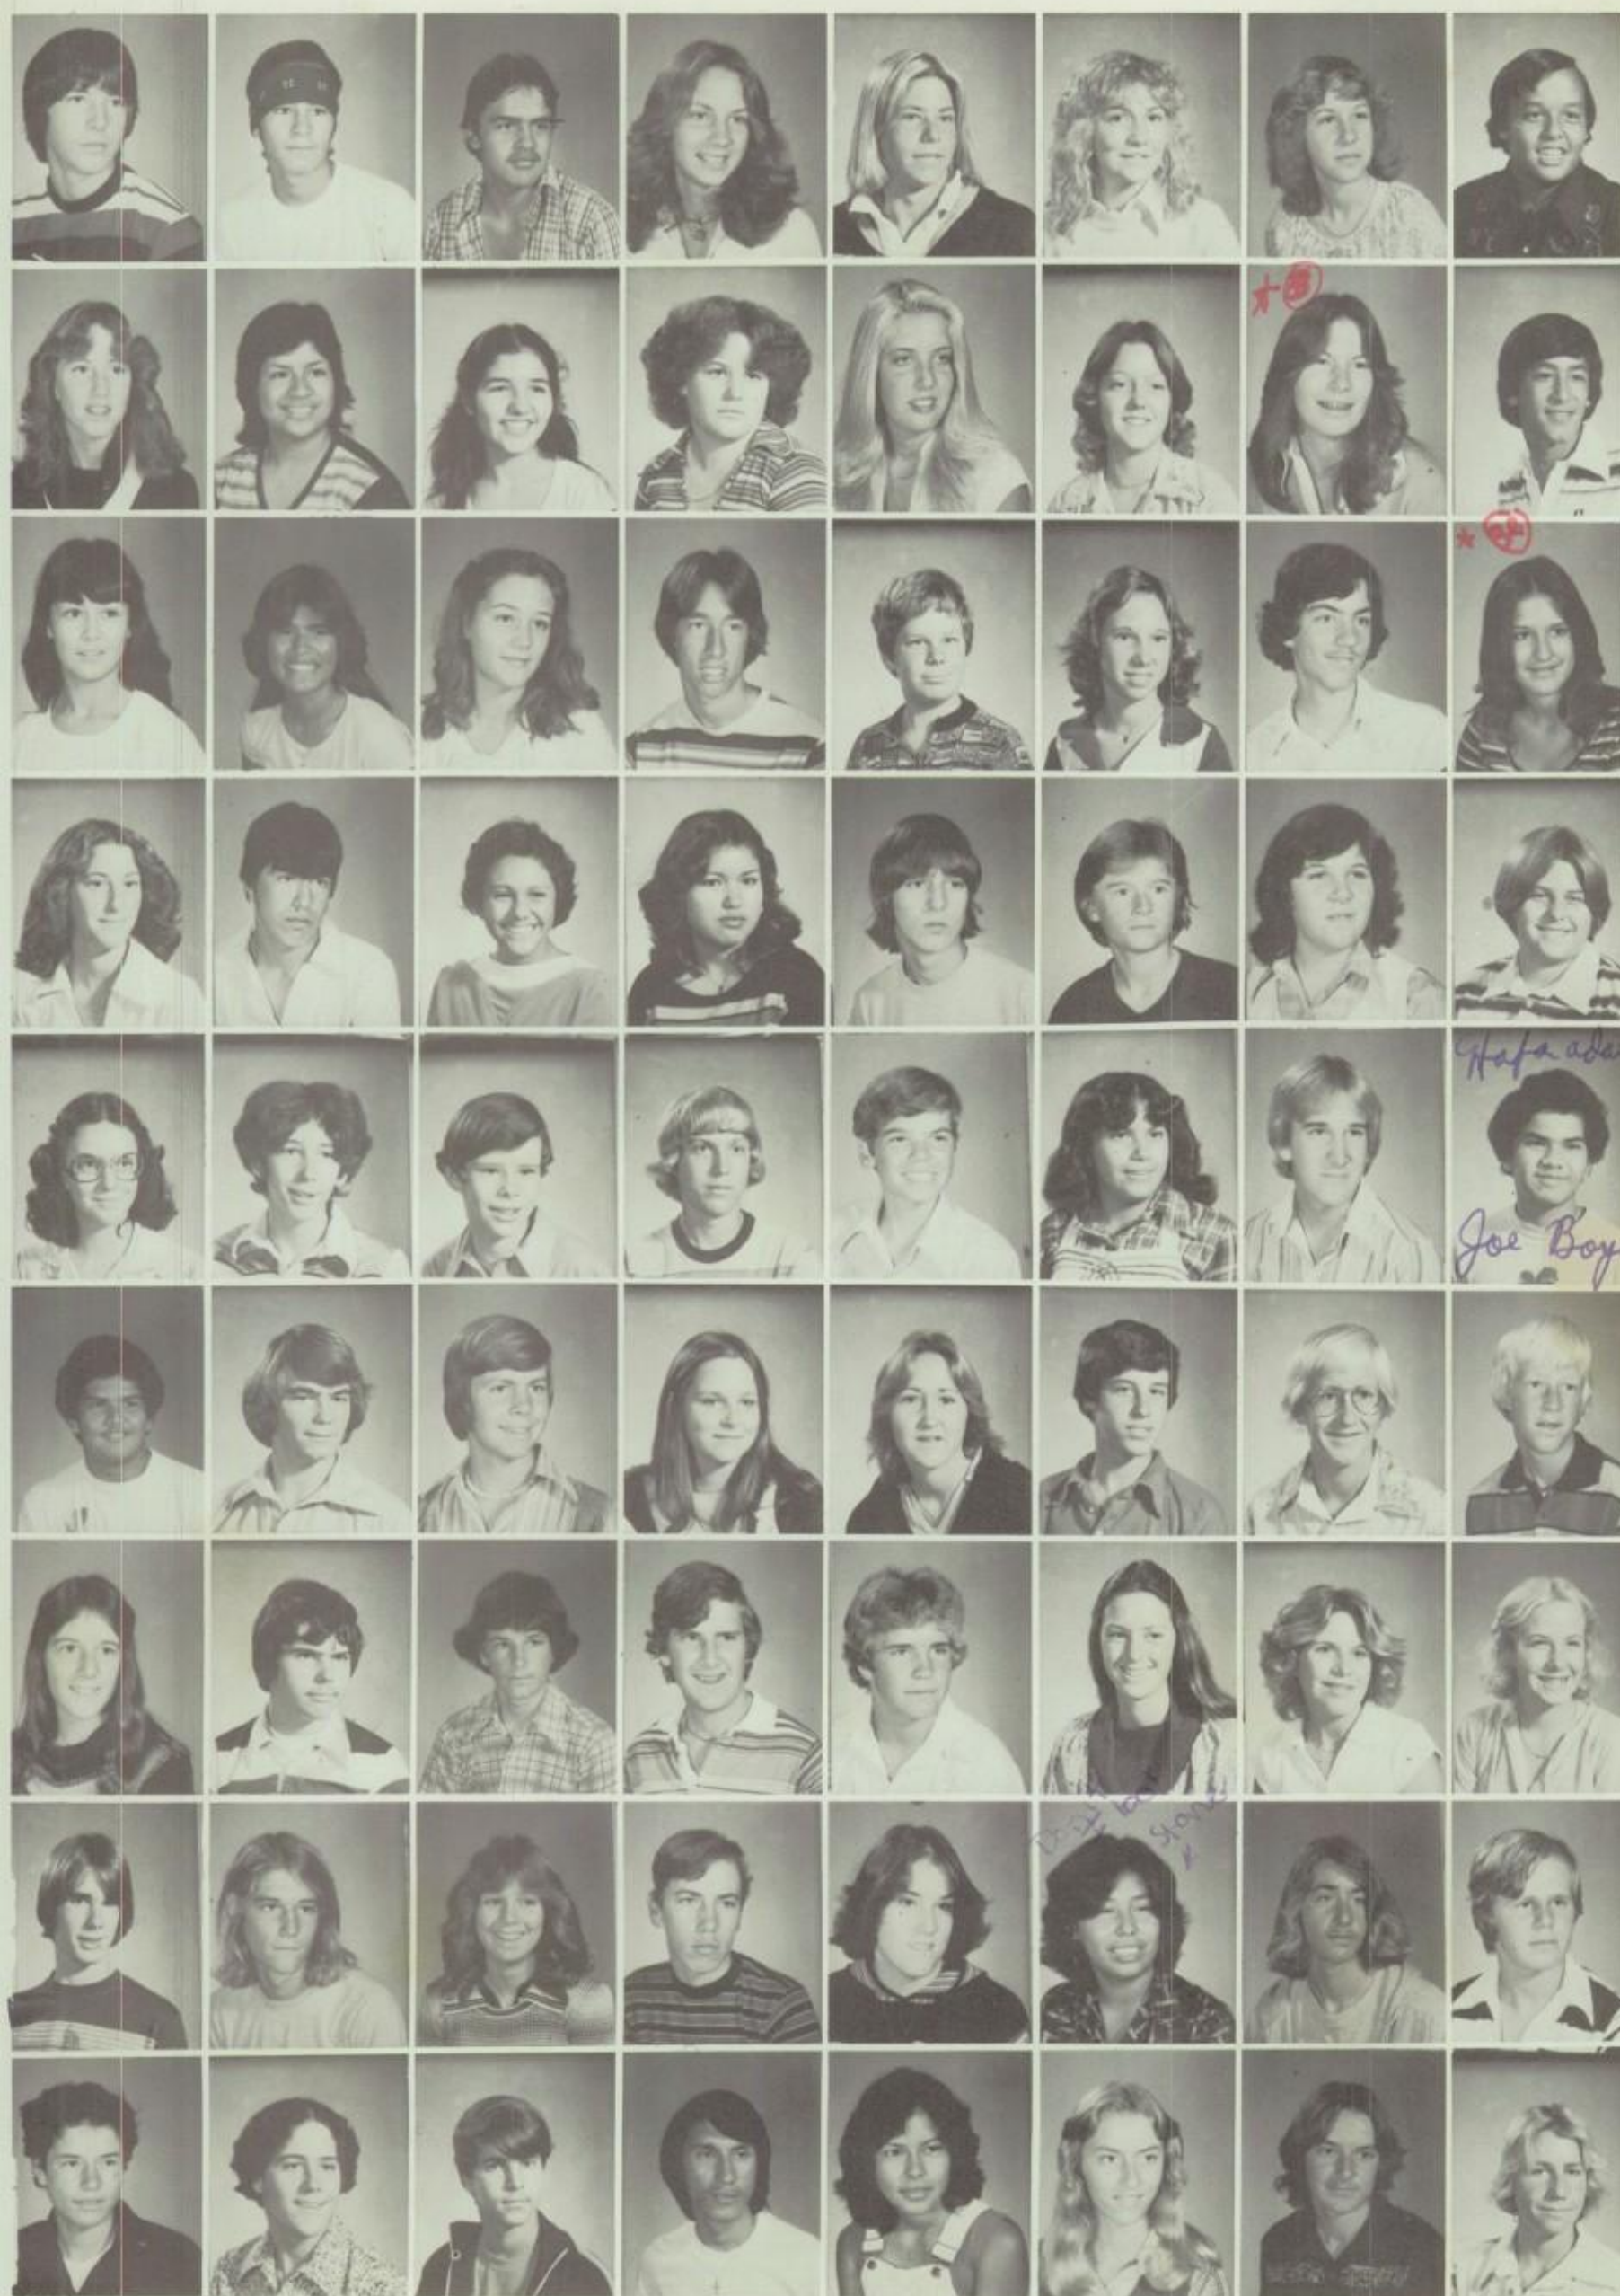

The sophomores were busy trying to get required classes out of the way to either get jobs in their sophomore year or sit back and relax during their senior year.

(Bottom right) Liz Smith and Brad Lusky take time out of a busy schedule to be alone.

Class grows smaller

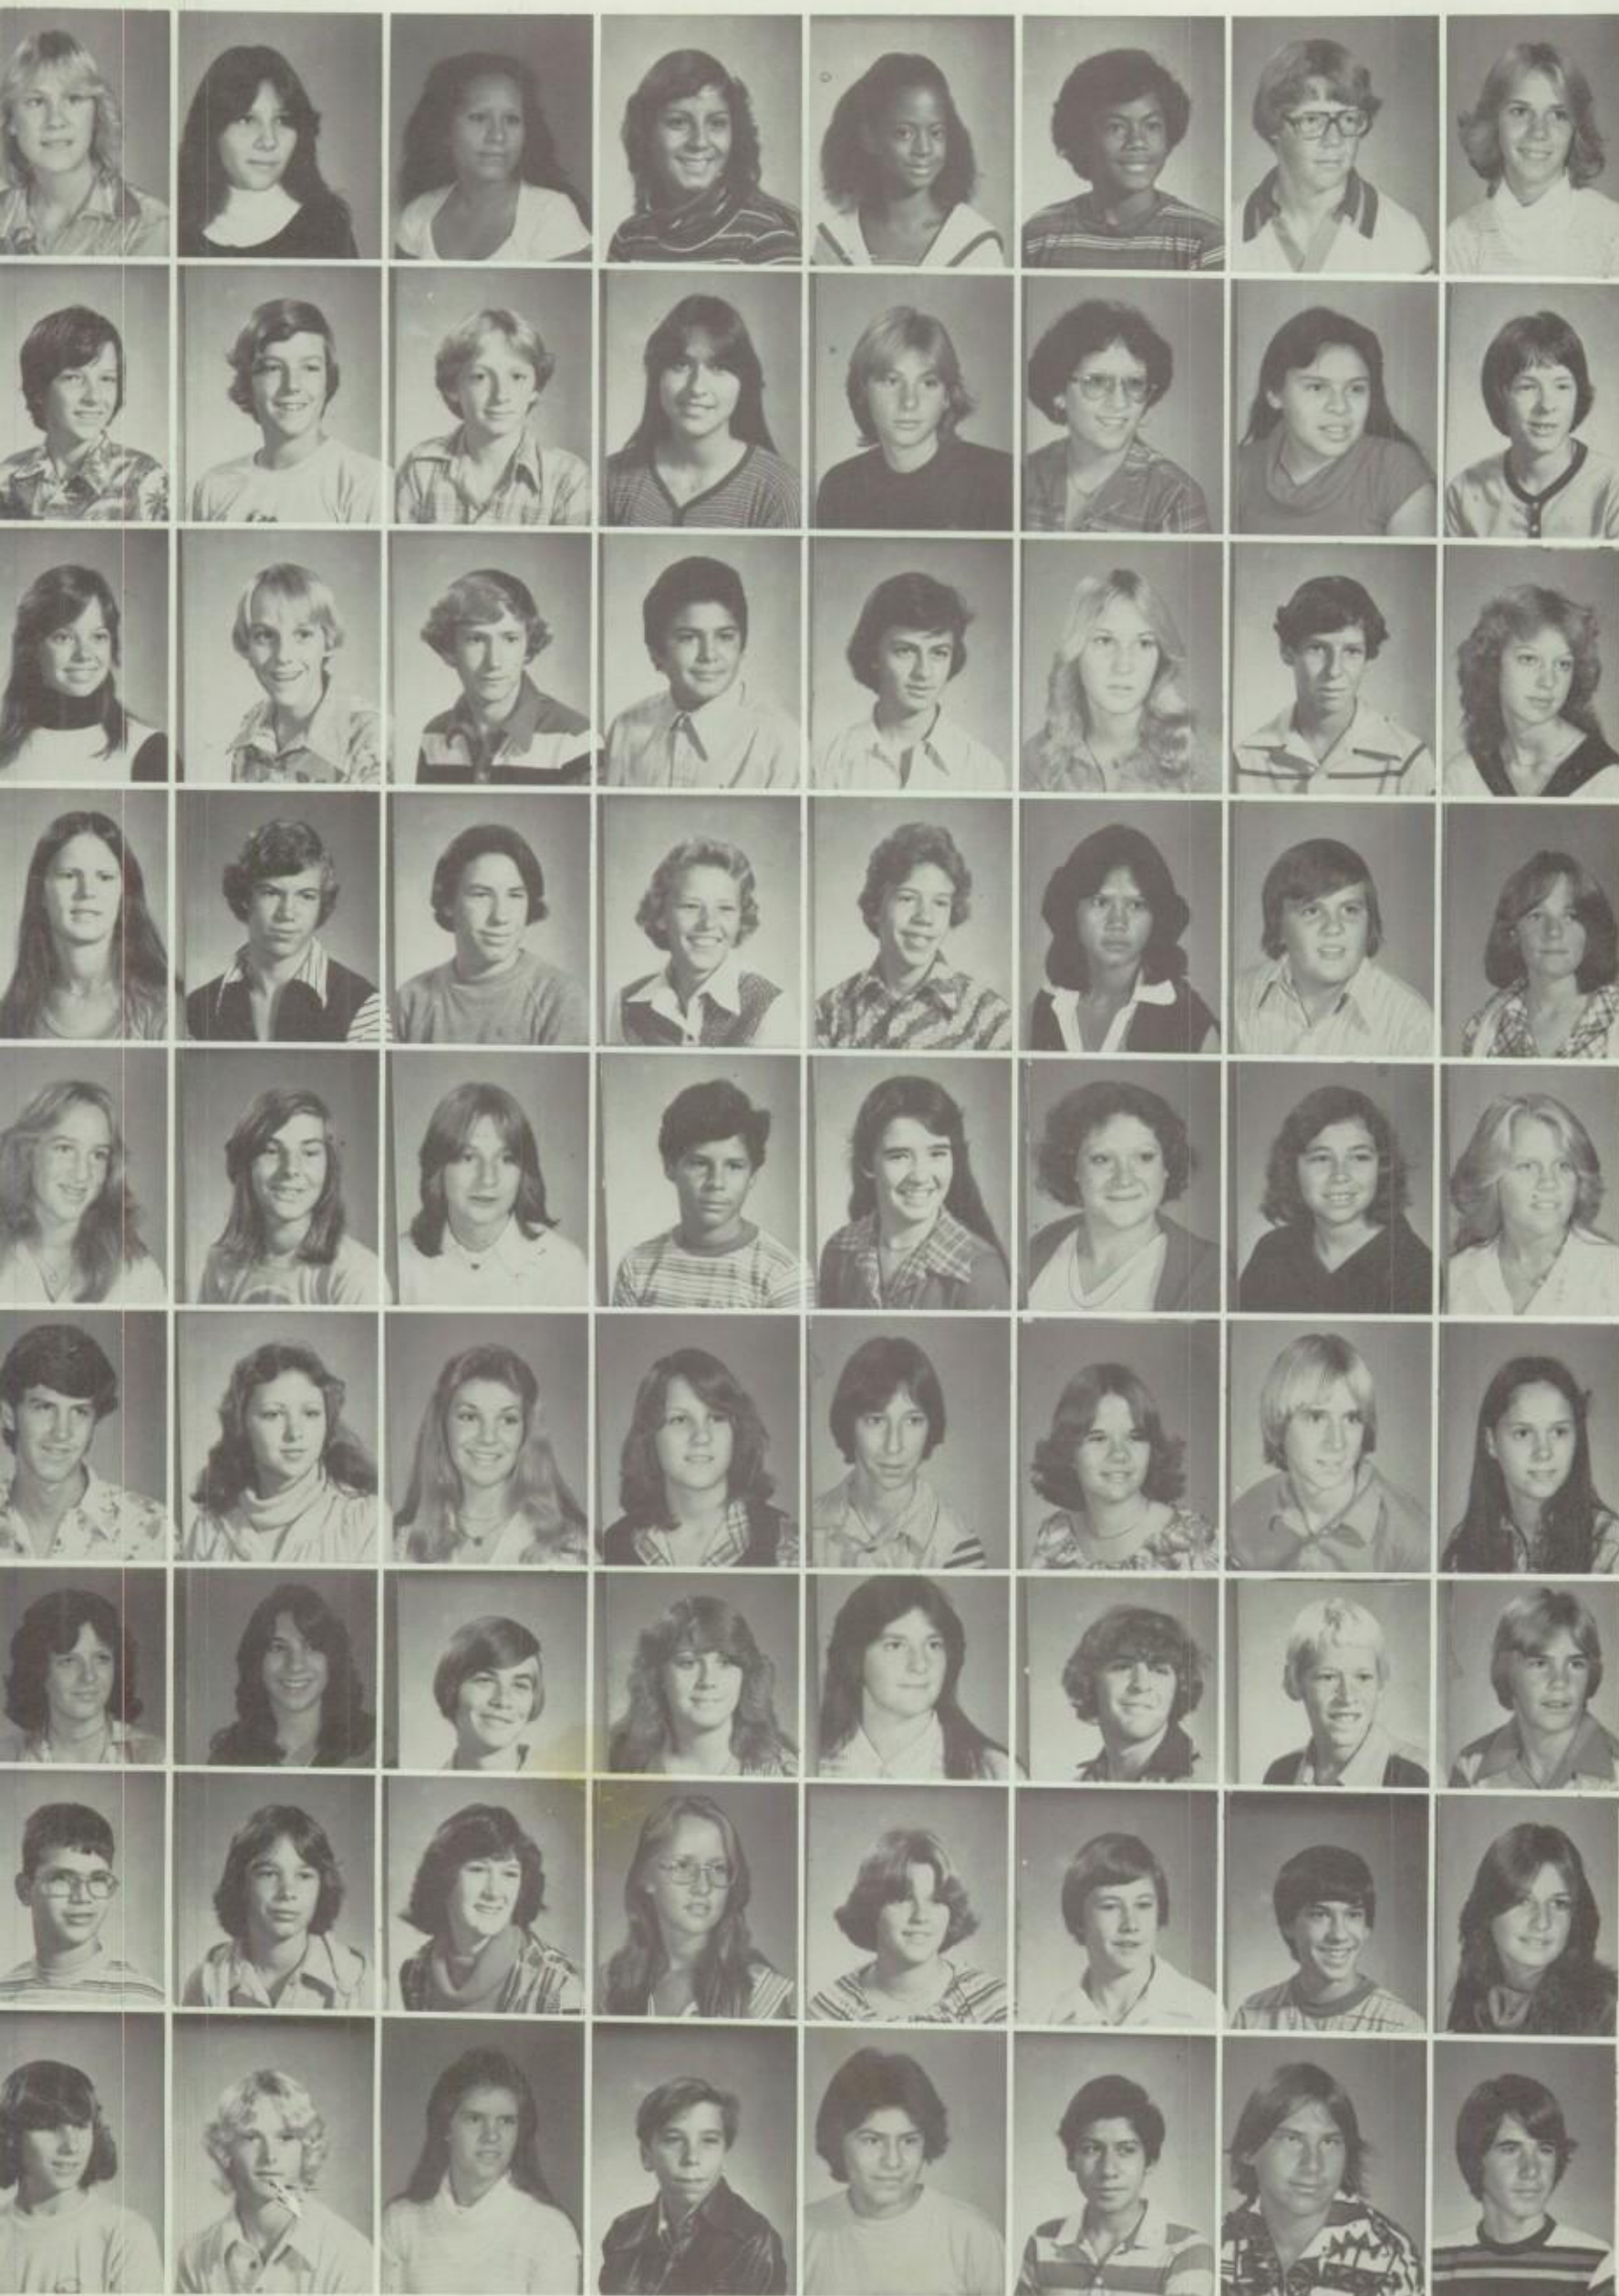

The Freshman Class was smaller than in the previous years. Although small in numbers, their spirits soared. They were still the spirited and anxious freshmen.

EHS has student board member

This year's student board member was a student here at EHS. Senior Mark Steinbeck was the first student at EHS to become a board member. Steinbeck was inaugurated at a September board meeting. "It's a worthwhile idea having a student board member to provide student input to the board members," said Steinbeck.

Absent teachers welcomed back

This year the English department at EHS had a series of absent teachers. John Georges was relieved from duty for a month while he recovered from a mild stroke. Noreen Mulliken was out a few short weeks after having a bouncing baby boy. Keith Gushwa was out of the eyes of EHS students and teachers after having surgery. We are happy to say that all these teachers are back with us again and we wish them many more years of gratifying service.

Department gets new teachers

This year the Science and Social Science Departments received new teachers. Chesley Ross was added to the Science department. She formerly taught Girls P.E. here at EHS. Norman Barnhard taught Civics here at EHS for the first time in three years. Barnhard had been fulltime activities adviser but was forced to reroute his interest due to Prop. 13.

THE WAY TO GO!

Four years ago, you took on a job.

You knew it wouldn't be easy. It wasn't. But you did it; you completed the course—and earned the praise you are getting now.

We congratulate you. That's the way to go!

But now you step ahead: more education, the beginning of a career, and the full responsibilities of citizenship.

That's the way to go, too—and you'll make it. You have our confidence and best wishes; you are the great Class of '79!

Your US Army Recruiter's Offer: A Skill

A skill is the art of knowing what you're doing, whether it's riding a motorcycle or fixing a tank.

The Army can teach you to know what you're doing—really know—in any of over 200 skill specialties. Everything from Accounting Specialist to Wheel Vehicle Mechanic.

We teach you in two ways. With first-rate instruction and a lot of practical experience. There's plenty of work to be done in the Army and always something new to learn. You'll have to handle it—but there'll always be someone there to back you up and answer your questions.

After three packed years of solving all kinds of problems, you could gain something rare, and yours to keep. A skill.

FRIENDSHIPS...

... special to the EFCC graduating class, 1979.

Emmanuel Faith Community Church, 639 E. Felicita, Escondido.

Who is our cornerstone?

Jesus Christ, a precious cornerstone. 1 Peter 2:4-8.

How to lay a foundation.

Not with wood, gold or silver, but only through Jesus Christ. 1 Corinthians 3:11.

What holds us
together?

With Christ as the head, every person supplies a part. Ephesians 4:15-16.

How do we work
together?

*Encouraging each other
to love and good deeds.
Hebrews 10:24-25.*

Coming down—we realize that any illusions must fade, dissolving back into the hard reality. But every illusion makes us aware of more reality—each time coming down we lose less of the illusive nimbus of the world. Whoa, is this the end we see?

Afterword

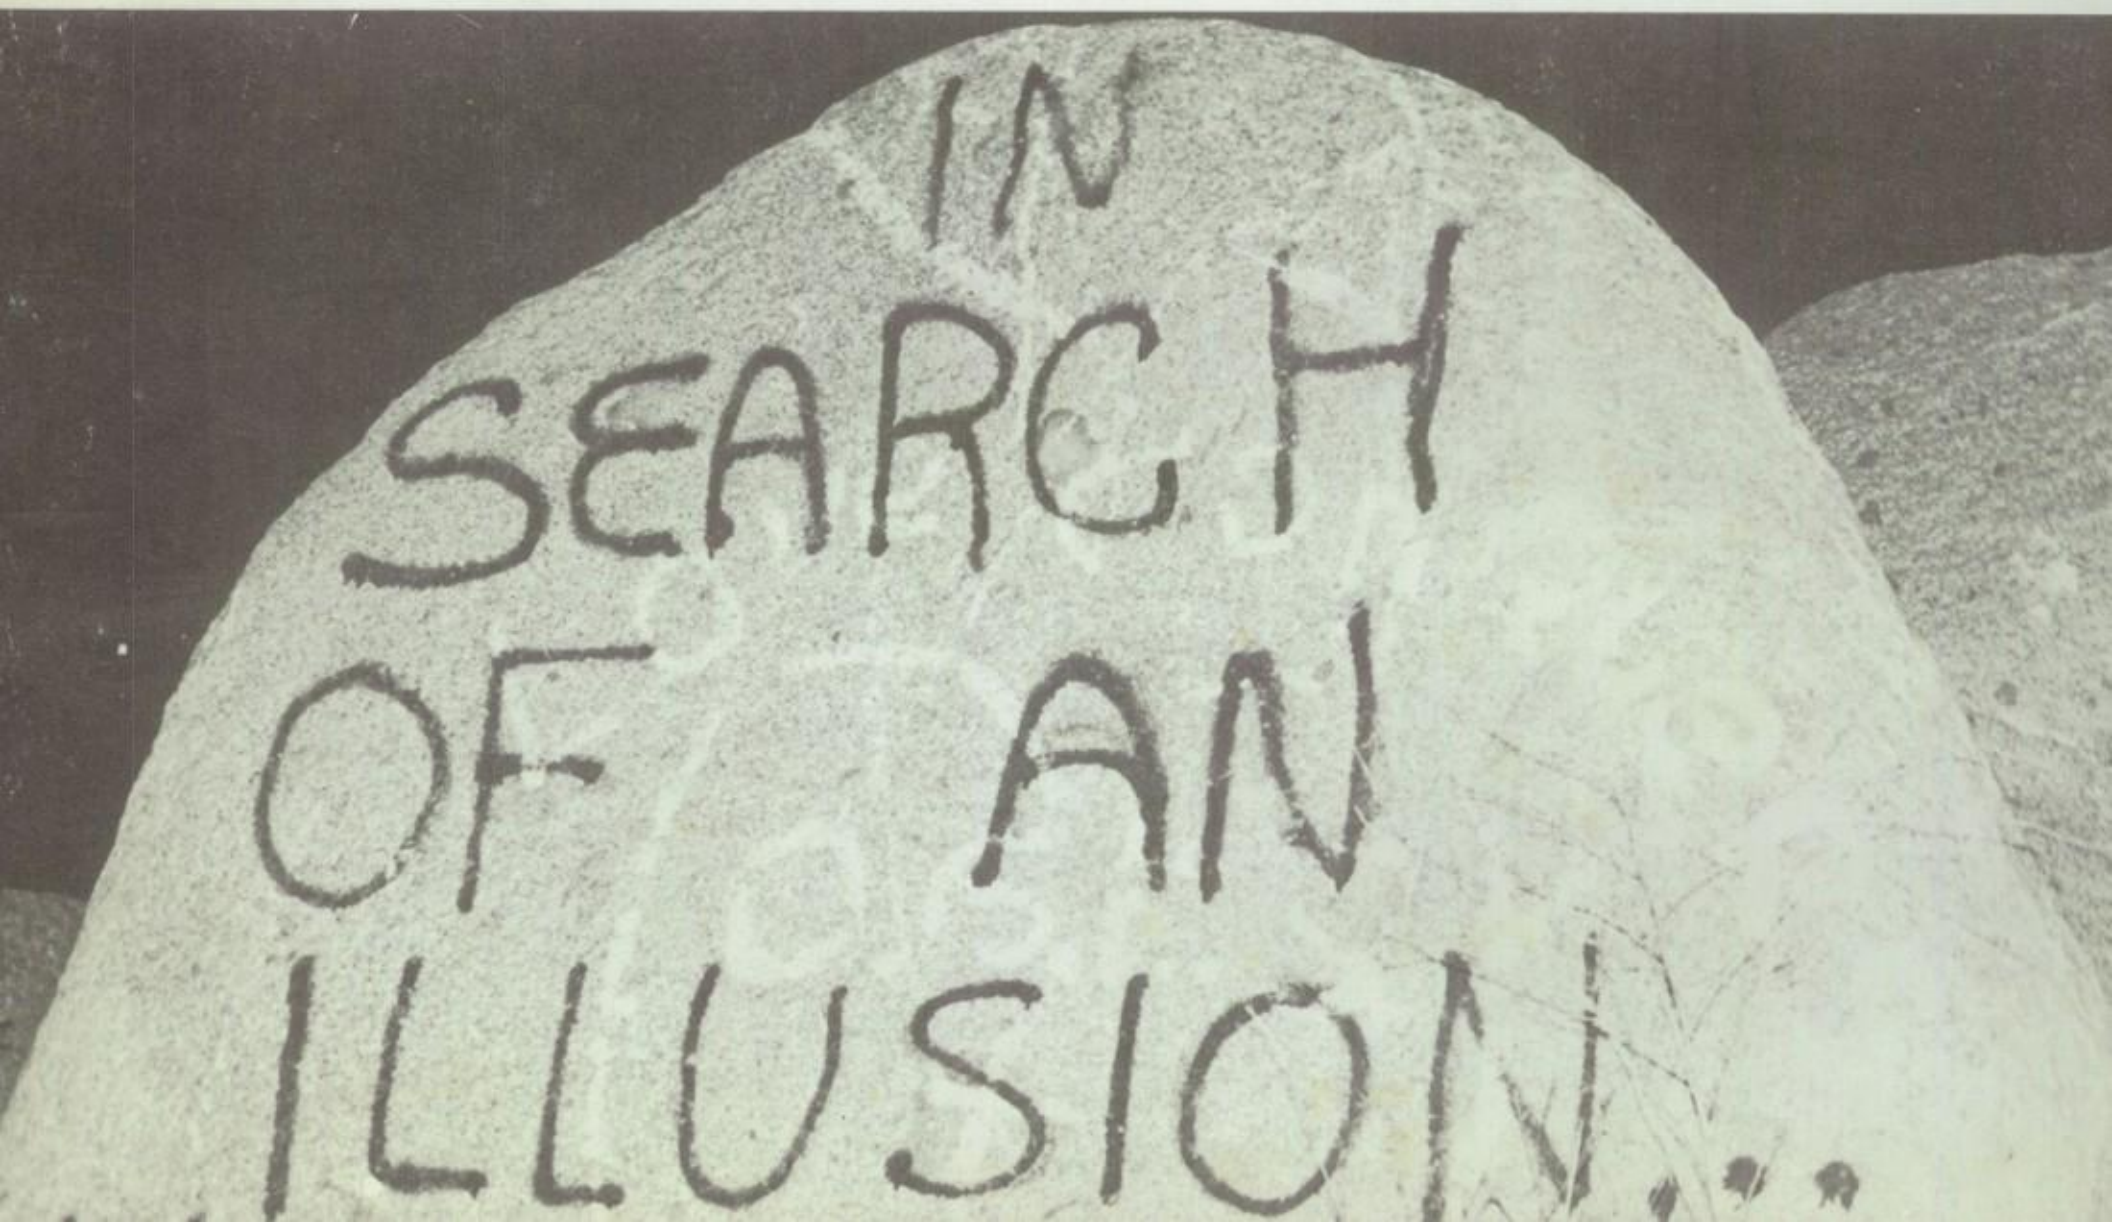

Three-hundred days and many liters of coffee after I volunteered for the job of editor I look back and wonder if it was all worth it. I can't answer that question. So many things have happened since then. I can't sort them out and weigh good and bad against each other.

I have awakened many times in the middle of the night with one fear heavy on my heart—will the students really like this book? I could never really know—but I now feel confident that they will. The staff was very supportive of my inane ideas (at least they said so). I also feel that the format of this book truly reflects the attitude of the 78-79 school year—again, inane. The Class of '79 has been the most interesting class I have ever seen—and I feel that my opinion isn't tainted by too much bias. I knew very few people in my class before this year.

The last of a series of quite subjective contributions to the EHS print medium. What a long, strange trip it's been.
